Message from the Founding Director

We are extremely proud of our achievements during the last year as we worked hard to recover from the aftermath of COVID-19, the surge in TB cases and severe drought and flooding affecting our communities. Financial uncertainty greatly affected fundraising efforts abroad, exacerbated by economic inflation and increased taxes which caused us to regularly re-evaluate our annual budget ensuring we stayed within our allocated margins. I continue to be proud of how much we can accomplish with what we receive and all the efforts of those who fundraise for us on our behalf.

I am grateful to Pepo La Tumaini (UK) and Tumaini Inc (USA) who raise funds and provide governance and accountability over all our programmes. We believe education isn't just about books and classrooms; it's about peacebuilding and promoting diversity and inclusivity. At Pepo La Tumaini we take a grass-roots approach to meeting the needs of those who are economically and socially disadvantaged. Our humanitarian work nurtures self-sustaining communities across different ethnicities and religions, empowering the next generation through leadership and preparedness.

I invite you to read our 2023 annual report to find out how we do it.

About

Pepo La Tumani Jangwani

Restoring dignity and igniting hope through education and empowerment

At Pepo la Tumaini Jangwani, we are on a mission to change lives, restore dignity, and ignite hope in the heart of Isiolo, Kenya. We are a unique, locally led, community-based organization with a deep commitment to providing support, healing, and empowerment to children and families whose lives have been profoundly affected by HIV.

The Challenge

In Isiolo, many children have been left to shoulder the responsibilities of their households due to the devastating impact of HIV on their families. These young souls should be attending school and enjoying their childhood but are forced to sacrifice their dreams to find food and money for their loved ones. At Jangwani, we recognize the urgency of breaking this cycle and offering these children a chance at a brighter future.

Our Approach

We empower marginalized individuals living in poverty to transform their lives and uplift their communities. Since 1994, we have been making a significant impact, supporting over 100,000 people in Isiolo.

Our Impact

Our work has led to tangible and life-changing outcomes for the people of Isiolo. We have witnessed increased qualifications and skills, improved life chances, better mental health and well-being, reductions in domestic violence, sexual abuse, and harmful cultural practices, as well as heightened awareness of HIV. Our programmes are building self-reliance, fostering community cohesion, and reducing tribal tensions, ultimately improving the prospects of thousands of individuals each year.

Meet Our International Board of Directors

We are registered as a charitable trust in Kenya, and as a fundraising charity in the UK with governance provided by our trustees who meet with us three times a year including planning an on-site visit to Isiolo with the entire team. For fundraising and tax exemption purposes in the USA we have 501(c)(3) status.

PEACEBUILDING

Education and Self-Reliance

Our unique rehabilitative boarding school programme caters for children at risk of abuse, neglect, and abandonment between the ages of 10-18 years old. We use a mother and youth care network of previous school mothers and former pupils to identify vulnerable families and children heading households who are eligible for our school. Other referrals come from our local probation and community policing services.

Our nursery and lower primary school offer a day schooling option for local children from the surrounding slum areas between the ages of 3 - 10 years old. These children come from single-mother households suffering from extreme economic poverty. They are responsible for the care of their younger siblings, acting as the heads of their families, while their mothers look for work.

In 2023

neglected children were provided with education, care, and support.

- 42 pupils were total orphans.
- 35 pupils joined our school unable to read and write.
- 28 HIV-positive pupils taking ARV medication.
- 24 pupils with physical or mental disabilities.
- 16 pupils were referred through police and probation services.

What did We Achieve

ACADEMIC PERFORMANCE

- 22 pupils completed their final primary school exams, achieving our highest mean score of 278/500.
- 70% of pupils met expectations across the new competency-based curriculum.

CO-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

- 42 pupils participated in the local inter-schools games and athletics competitions and 62 pupils participated in the Kenya national school's music festival competition, reaching the regional level.

CLIMATE SUSTAINABILITY

- 60 pupils engaged in environmental and agricultural activities including planting 168 trees, compost making, waste management and recycling.

Supporting Disadvantaged Youth

Having seen the benefits of diversification for the pupils at our school, we recognise the increased potential for making change possible for young people when there are different levels of experience and a wider range of abilities. Plans for our new boarding facility at our vocational training centre will allow us to offer more places to both our students and graduates as well as other youth across Kenya to help them develop vital trade skills. We completed the first phase of building, replacing the temporary fencing around camp with a new perimeter security wall. The construction plans for 2024 include an accommodation block for 16 pupils, a house for a senior staff member and new toilets and shower facilities.

street youth provided with meals 4 times during the year in our outdoor feeding programme.

In 2023

95

disadvantaged youth organised into self-help group for peace and youth advocacy.

In 2023

Strengthening Community Health

TB in Isiolo affected a high number of our HIV-positive families and individuals. Persistent stigma affecting people living with HIV and inadequate nutrition resulted in poor treatment uptake of anti-retroviral treatment which caused a surge of TB cases. High rates of economic inflation in Kenya, meant that an increasing number of the families we support were unable to afford three meals a day, subsisting on only what they could afford. This meant more families were forced to sleep hungry at the detriment of their health and well-being.

HIV +ve members organised into
7 therapy support groups

In 2023

- 20 youth to be mentored into leadership positions and provided with employment opportunities.
- 135 children and young people to participate in vocational training projects at our Trade and Talent Centre.
- 25 youth empowered as community health leaders to support outreach activities.

- Engage 180 community leaders and members to support community health matters, improving community cohesion.
- Provide mobile health services to 1400 street youth and adults not accessing mainstream health services.

Our Partners

We are hugely thankful to our incredible group of partners which include international foundations and individuals as well as various fundraising initiatives supported by Tumaini Inc (USA) and Pepo La Tumaini (UK). We are particularly proud of our partnerships with local CSR initiatives such as Absa Bank donating 20 computers to our school and client donations from Sirikoi Lodge contributing $10,000 towards our school programme.

As we enter into our last year of partnership with Segal Family Foundation we aim to strengthen our partnership with Timaflor Jangwani Rose farm whose local monthly donations contributed towards 16% of our programme costs. We also aim to improve our production initiatives at our trade centre which are currently generating $10,000 through local sales towards our annual budget. We welcome on board Egmont Trust UK as our funding partner for health in 2024 as we improve our support for HIV+ve/TB-affected beneficiaries.
